LOCAL RESIDENTS CONGRATULATED ON FARM UNION PARTICIPATION

MORINVILLE.—Congratulations have been offered to Mr. Phillip Gibeau and Mr. James Ellett for the honors received by them by being reelected President of the Alberta FUA for Mr. Ellett and the great task accomplished by Mr. Gibeau at the recent FUA convention.

The following item was written by the secretary of the Morinville Local, FUA, Mr. Oscar J. Hittinger:

It's Later Than You Think'

"It is time something be done about the Communists in the Farmers' Union, Frank Maricle, Director of District No. 4, is in Warsaw attending a so-called 'Peace Congress' behind the Iron Curtain.

"I nth this country we have loved ones suffering and dying every day in Korea to keep the enemy off our shores, and right in our midst we have men collaborating with Communists. It is sad to think that we let down our boys who can't be home for Christmas but are fighting so we can enjoy it to our hearts' content. If anyone is not following the international situation today, let him talk to any returned soldier who saw the occupation of Berlin. Things the Communist armies will do are so low that it is hard to believe.

"Certainly these acts are not becoming to human beings in a normal state of mind. Pray God that such a calamity will never befall us. To think that man goes to Warsaw for the cause of peace is so appalling. Every farmer should now realize that his business is not confined within the fence of his farmstead, but at least to join the Farmers' Union and lend his weight. There are sufficient in Eastern Europe. People there are almost helpless now, but had they not been careless and unconcerned about their freedom, they light still be gladly celebrating Christmas instead of having to celebrate Stalin's birthday with a double shift producing war material.

Sure, we have problems in this country, but they are not even 'peanuts' in comparison to our plight if the Communists succeeded in lowering the boom.

"This local refuses to work with men who are traitors to this country and human rights. It will take a firm stand on this issue that Communism be quelled within the Union. The FUA will not be a

Turkey Supper Popular Event

The turkey supper given by the Community League in the hall proved to be a very popular event. There was plenty of turkey for late-comers and many of the large crowd stayed to enjoy a good moving picture show. The supper was under the capable management of Mrs. Edgar Ellett.

A post-nuptial shower for Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Mitchell was held in Independence Hall. A large and beautiful ship was laden with lovely gifts for the happy couple. Dancing was enjoyed, with the local orchestra furnishing music, and refreshments were served by the Women's Institute.

A number of Alcomdale residents attended the Old-Timers' Banquet at Westlock and spent a very enjoyable evening.

medium for the spreading of Communism. This local will take the lead, if necessary, to evict such undesired characters in the Farmers' Union. We not only endorse, but urge the executive to eject such members with the hope that they may be enlightened some day.

The president of FUA Local 526, Phil Gibeau, reports that all members are requested to attend a very special meeting to be held next Tuesday evening at 8:00 p.m. in the Annex, when he will give a detailed report of the provincial convention, and answer all questions. An invitation is extended to all non-members to attend and hear for themselves the importance of a fir Union at this particular time. Another important number on the agenda of this meeting will be the final preparations for the New Year Eve dance to be held on Dec. 31.

PARTNERS SURVEY DAMAGE TO ST. ALBERT WOODWORKING SHOP

ST. ALBERT.—Rene Proulx and C. Brodeur are surveying the damage at the St. Albert Woodwork Shop caused by fire which broke out last Friday at 3:30 a.m.

A fire truck from Edmonton was sent to the blaze, when an emergency call was received from Mayor H. M. Ross of St. Albert. It arrived in about 15 minutes. The rig was used mainly to protect adjacent buildings.

Apparently, the fire started in the boiler room at the rear of the one-storey frame building and spread rapidly. Efforts of the St. Albert volunteer fire brigade and the Edmonton crew could not save it from burning to the ground.

No estimate of damage could be obtained, but it was reported considerable equipment was destroyed.

Rene Proulx, manager and part owner of the woodworking shop, collapsed after toiling to help put out the blaze, and is being treated for severe shock.

One of the chief business establishments in St. Albert, the main products turned out in the shop were church pews.

Just Between You And I

By Rose Martel

MORINVILLE — Before you waste another second, let me give you a friendly tip, this is just between you and I and it is nothing important, so if you have better things to do, do not tire your eyeballs with this. I repeat, this is just a hole-filler, as we news hounds call it. If television was possible here no doubt some program would make picture story to illustrate their point as some people find it hard sometimes to get the point or better still, understand it. Being very poor at drawing, you will forgive me if I fail to draw you a picture of what a hole-filler is. But bear one thing in mind, it has no relation whatsoever with the round hole and the square peg.

o you like stories? I have permission from J. Howard Pew to use this one please do accuse me of taking it without.

"A man and his wife quarreled violently and retreated to opposite ends of the front porch. Then a team horses came slowly up the hill with a cart of stones. "Wouldn't it be wonderful if we could pull together like that?" asked the woman. "Well," her husband replied sourly, "we could pull together just as well as that if we had only one tongue between us."

Now if you are a farmer or have knowledge of rural life, you know very well that the tongue referred to in the story is a long pole like a piece of wood, that fits between a team of horses when they are hitched to a wagon or cart. But some poor innocent soul, who never saw a horse or I should say a team of horses, would read this story and surmise that the story-teller was ridiculous. That is the difference between knowledge of facts and idle gossip, which in the final analysis does more harm to those who take things at their face value, than to those who know from experience that "All can talk, but few can say something when they speak."

Newspaper Mortality

For various reasons, the number of large newspapers in Canada and the United States has been gradually decreasing. This has been due to two principal causes: The shortage of trained help and the ever-rising costs of labor, newsprint and other higher prices. "Daily newspapers are folding (going out of business) at the rate of one a month," says Professor Gleason of Boston University, Division of Journalism. "Even weeklies are folding at the rate of 10 or more a month."

In the past 10 years, over 20 Alberta weekly newspapers, some of which had been in business for upwards of 40 years, have had to close up and go out of business. Fortunately, others have been continued and some have been re-established by being printed with other papers, in central shops. Community Publications of Edmonton, publishers of this newspaper, are in this way enabled to serve communities that otherwise would be without the services of a weekly newspaper.

But we aren't the only ones. The Wetaskiwin Times, Leduc Representative, Wainwright Star and the High River Times, to mention a few, have taken other, smaller papers under their wings.

There are many good towns yet without weekly papers that would gladly welcome anyone who would put their town "on the map" by publishing a weekly newspaper. But there are very few qualified newspapermen or printers willing to exchange a good situation with an established publisher for the doubtful and risky enterprise of a country newspaper shop.

And some who do are foolish enough to by-pass those towns needing a weekly paper and instead seek to establish a second newspaper for a town already being served.

Which just increases their own chances of "mortality".

Alberta Defence Needs

While the Western Powers are fighting to the finish a war in Korea, and sending more and better artillery pieces to France and Western Germany, workmen are busy attaching metal signs to street light standards in New York.

Those signs indicate direction to the nearest Air-Raid shelter, and printed numerals advise capacity.

All this activity goes on, not in the middle of a world war, but in preparation for and anticipation of a future Communist war that may strike at any time.

Meanwhile, military brass is making a survey of civil defence needs of the Western Provinces, and survey are to be made right here in Alberta. We can't depend too much on modern inventions such as radar to fend off a sudden-death entry of Russian bombers dropping atomic bombs on Edmonton and Calgary.

The "integration" of Canadian and United States armed forces is predicted by Defense Minister Brooke Claxton because, as he says, "It makes sense." There is no doubt of the wisdom of U.S. and Canadian forces using identical arms and equipment.

A successful defense of Canada against any invader is of prime importance to the U.S.A. Adequate defense plans for this province, to safeguard in war time the oil and resources are of vital concern to every resident of both countries.

An All-Including Creed

Out of a true knowledge of sin will come a true appreciation of Jesus Christ as the Saviour. Apart from this, He will be a strong teacher; with it, He will be the Redeemer for whom our hearts have unconsciously longed when they have felt the soreness and agony of sin. We could sum up the Christian creed in a sentence, yet that sentence contains more than all the libraries in the world. The short but all-including creed—the faith which bears us up above all temptation and all controversy, the faith in which we destroy the power of the world, and soar into the brightness of eternal life—is this—I believe in Jesus Christ, the Son of God!

In India and China, where people starve to death every year, we understand that conservatives declare that what helps business helps people.

Oddities In My Week

By T. W. PUE

Bruce Hutchison has written an article in the Saturday Evening Post entitled 'The Trouble With You Yanks'. It is critical of the American nation, and should make wholesome reading, although I doubt if any Americans will be improved by it. I read it while eating halibut in the Royal Cafe, Lac la Biche.

The phrase 'The Trouble With You Yanks', is identical with one I used in speaking to an American friend, who was born in the south. He rudely awakened me to the fact that not all Americans call themselves Yanks.

"Yank?" he exclaimed, in honest amazement. "You call me a Yank? I was born in New Orleans and was 13 years old before I knew that 'Damn Yankee' was two words!"

Speaking of the South, I just received a 40th anniversary copy of the Miami Herald. It has nearly 200 pages, in celebration of forty years of publishing a newspaper in Florida. In contrast to our chilly November weather their reading for the last Saturday in November was:

Air temperature, 75 degrees, Ocean reading, 77 degrees.

Now, if any of you farmers with oil rights are planning a little southern jaunt, be sure to take in Miami and take me along. I'll willingly carry your bags from car to hotel and back from hotel to car again. Might even consider doing part of the driving. Just let me have a mid-winter swim in that tropical ocean!

Can you solve this problem? Three men checked in at a Miami Beach Hotel late one evening, and checked out early again the next morning. The desk clerk charged them $30.00 for this one night's lodging, and they grumbled about it. While they were loading their grips in their car the clerk released a bit and sent the bell hop out with a $5.00 bill as refund.

The travellers were overjoyed and gave the bell hop a $2.00 tip. Of the original $30.00, therefore, the men actually only paid $27.00 and the bell hop got $2.00. That made $29.00. Who got the other dollar?

The Sunburst Motor Coach lines now run all the way to Lac la Biche, but a sign tacked up somewhere in Thorold reads, "Bus route Extension." Could they mean Extension?

If you think only India has mountain lions, go up to the mountains north of Wandering river and bag a few lynx. Trappers say they're getting more plentiful now that the rabbit population is reaching the apex of its cycle. You'll receive from $10.00 to $15.00 for each lynx pelt.

"I've been reading Churchill's book, 'The Grand Alliance', which, in its chapters on relations with Russia, gives an insight into the problems of dealing with the mid-Asiatic mind. It also shows how easily circumstances of the moment alter our prejudices.

Before June 22, 1941, the Russians refused to co-operate in any way with Churchill for mutual defence. Every consideration was given to Germany, which soon tried it's best to stamp out Communist Russia while fighting the war with Britain.

After the German invasion, a British military mission was invited to Moscow and one of the junior officers was being shown the sights by an Intourist guide. "This," he said, "is Hotel Anthony Eden, formerly Hotel Herr Ribbentrop; this is Avenue Winston Churchill, formerly Adolph Hitler Road. Here is the Neville Chamberlain district, formerly Herman Goering district."

The British officer's response was classic. He said: "Thank you comrade, formerly bastard."

High Cost of Paper

General high cost of living has hit newspapers as hard as any other business. But what worries publishers more than anything, is the continuing rise in the price of newsprint, despite the fact that newspaper companies are registering record profits. Is it a case of charging all the market will bear?

The Alberta Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association has just passed the following resolution:

"Owing to the high price of newsprint, yet according to a recent press report one supplier showed a profit of over four million dollars in the past year, this division of the C.W.N.A. suggests that in the interests of all concerned, purchasers of newsprint are entitled to a reduction or reasons for such high prices in view of the report of seemingly large profits reported by newsprint manufacturers."

Are We All Crazy?

Dear Sir,—Due to excessive confiscatory taxation, in which one or two taxes equal the assessment value, the provincial government is driving the Canadian born small holder off his land. Yet at the same time, the Dominion government is paying one half of the airplane fares of aliens from Europe, to come and settle in Alberta.

What a farce! We, the electors, 'are the government', and as shown, we are all crazy and getting nuttier every day.

Inflation Crisis Sets Tone For Farm Union Gathering

By RAYMOND ARGYLE

Canada's inflation crisis set the tone of the Farmers' Union of Alberta's annual conference in Calgary as President Carl J. Stimpfle called on the federal government to bring back price controls.

Stimpfle said that price controls were especially needed in agriculture.

He was joined by Mrs. R. B. Gunn, head of the Farm Women's Union, in the demand for immediate steps to combat the high cost of living.

In a convention election Thursday Mr. Stimpfle was replaced as president by Henry G. Young, of Millet.

Membership in the Union has reached a record 18,944, according to statistics presented to the gathering.

Spiralling farm costs, together with diminishing return for farm products, were outlined by Mrs. Gunn.

She said 'farm costs have increased since 1939 by 77 per cent, wage rates by 245 per cent, machinery 60 per cent, and materials 100 per cent.'

Mrs. Gunn added 'farm people cannot long continue to produce the food so badly needed in a world where starvation stalks so many lands, unless the great disparity between costs of production and price returns, is overcome.'

Mr. Stimpfle declared that agricultural prices have been on the downgrade for the past six months, but that costs rose steadily the same period.

The farm leader emphasized that price controls must be established on a proper level, however, and not on the basis of current prices.

He said that 'if price controls were established at present levels, it would be disastrous for the agricultural industry.'

But 'the federal government must step into the picture,' he concluded.

Delegates to the five-day convention were welcomed by Mayor Donald Mackay of Calgary. The gathering was officially opened by Hon. J. J. Bowlen, lieutenant-governor.

Sharing the spotlight with the high cost of living was a fight between conservative and left-wing groups for control of the FUA.

One of the organization's directors, F. E. Mariele of Hamlin, was roundly blasted because of his association with the Canadian Peace Congress, a communist front movement.

Neutrality

Rank and file of the movement expressed staunch opposition to left-wing influence, and the leftists were soundly defeated on the floor of the convention.

Political neutrality, as a body, was recommended for the movement.

Establishment of a producer's coarse grain marketing board was also recommended. A spokesman said 'farmers can never hope to eliminate the speculation in coarse grains until such a board is established.'

Let Others Groan, She's Happy

Some tolerate snow, some hate snow, some refuse to step outside the door when there's snow on the ground. But among those who love snow is this little Alberta girl, who found last week's sudden snowfalls something to cheer about. Yet like lots of others she wasn't prepared for it, and tried to navigate with a tricycle instead of a sled.

Social Credit Confident As Party Faces Future

Recent Edmonton convention of the Alberta Social Credit league, attended by 250 delegates, was key-noted by the party's decision to launch an all-out western campaign in the next federal election.

Here, in review, are the important matters dealt with by the gathering:

The party will seek to double its members in the federal house of commons in the next election, reported E. G. Hansell, president of the national association.

Social Crediters were told Canada is looking more and more to Alberta's government for leadership.

Delegates returned to office their executive, headed by party leader E. C. Manning, president Robert Jorgenson, MLA; first vice-president Orvis Kennedy, and second vice-president Leslie Hill.

Gathering was told that Alberta lacks sufficient protection from the RCMP as the forces suffer a lack of manpower and equipment. Hon. Lucien Maynard said the attorney-general's department should investigate the RCMP's response in answering accident calls.

Premier Manning, in turning the gathering's attention to international affairs, said civilization fights to live while godless materialism dominates half the world.

E. G. Hansell said Social Credit is a Christian philosophy, aimed at making Canada an example to the world.

Hon. C. E. Gerhart reported there was nothing dictatorial in the County Act legislation.

Resolutions which called for a reduction in auto license fees, lower fuel taxes, loans for home construction, and provincial grants for social services, were defeated.

Social Credit dividends, the trump in the party's first election campaign, did not come up for discussion.

New Twist On Careful Driving

Being 'up in the air' can't have the same meaning as it used to have! Emphasizing Alberta's campaign for safety — and of course dramatizing the recent statement that travellers are seven times safer in the air than on the ground — Western Air Lines stewardesses are urging passengers on the brink of landing to "Please drive carefully, or ask your driver to be careful, when you leave the airport."

As excited as any kid his age would be watching a parade, Bonnie Prince Charles points with a gleam at something interesting as he sees while watching the procession of royalty past Buckingham Palace. The LIGHTER SIDE

How True!

A small income is a heck of a thing—difficult to live with in and impossible to live without.

Might Be Difficult

"Fred is very capable," said Aunt Nancy. "But I doubt if he has head enough to fill his father's shoes."

The Difference

"So your son is in college? How is he making it?"

"He isn't making it. I'm making it and he's spending it."

Juvenile Logic

It was the little boy's first visit to church and when the choir entered, all in white, he whispered to his father: "Look quick, Daddy! They're all going to get a haircut!"

Father's Advice

Black—"What did your father advise when you told him you loved his daughter, but only had a thousand dollars saved up?"

White—"He advised me to invest it all in a one-way railway ticket with no stop-overs!"

LETTER TO LOUISA

Should Wife Leave Husband Who Won't Stop Drinking?

DEAR LOUISA: I have been married eight years and have four children. My children are very precious to me.

My husband says he loves me very much, but still he goes out alone once or twice a week and comes home late, most of the time drunk. He keeps on promising me he won't do it again, although he never keeps his promise.

I love my husband, but I cannot stand his drinking. There are big arguments every time he drinks. It seems to me he'll never quit drinking. I cannot take it any longer.

What should I do? Leave him and take one of my children with me? I could support one, not the four. It would be so hard to go without the others.

UNHAPPY.

Answers:

Yours is a problem which many women face, and it is one that, in the long run, you can resolve only on your own.

However, I would suggest that you have but one alternative—to stay on with your husband, and to make the best you can out of your married life.

It's pretty difficult these days for a woman with even one child to make a living for herself. But not only that, you owe it to all your children to give them a mother's love and raise them as they should be raised.

If your husband found himself alone, what of the other children? If you left him, would he quit drinking? In my opinion, he'd probably drink all the more.

No, I say stay on with your husband. Keep trying to keep him off his drinking, and do the best you can in keeping your household together.

If your husband's drinking gets worse, I would suggest you contact the nearest branch of The Alcoholics Anonymous. They may be able to help him.

LOUISA.

Army Benevolent Fund Can Aid War Veterans

Veterans of the Canadian Army living in rural areas either are not aware of the assistance they can get from the Army Benevolent fund, or don't need it as often as veterans in the cities, according to the officer in command of the fund.

Lt.-Gen. J. C. Murchie stated this week that Veterans living in rural areas should take advantage of the fund in times of need.

The fund was instituted by parliament in 1947 when $9,000,000 was set aside from World War II profits and other sources to be spent for the benefit of World War II Army veterans and their dependents.

Complete information can be secured from any branch of Veterans organizations, District offices of the Department of Veterans Affairs, Veterans Officers in the Unemployment Insurance Commission, Settlement Supervisors of the Veterans Land Act, Provincial Welfare Services and Welfare Bureaus.

General Murchie says in accordance with the Act of Parliament only those cases can be helped which arise as the result of some unexpected contingency or unforeseen calamity. The usual cases of such difficulties are sickness, accident, death, fire, flood, windstorm, epidemic and temporary dislocation of finances.

There must also be evidence that the applicant is deserving of assistance and that his financial difficulties are a result of circumstance over which he had no control.

Fine Cattle Raised In Alberta's Far Northland

Fine cattle are being raised in Alberta's far north, according to a Lac la Biche cattle dealer.

Paul Rezewski says that the north district beyond Lac la Biche is becoming a great ranch country. Last week he purchased a herd from one of the several ranches in that district.

The ranch is situated near Conklin, 90 miles beyond Lac la Biche, midway between Lac la Biche and McMurray, the end of steel.

In addition to buying cattle, Mr. Rezewski, who used to live at Vilma, also manages the hotel coffee shop in Lac la Biche.

Managing both enterprises is a big job, but last week he bought a head of 17 cattle from the Conklin ranch. He is strong in his belief that that part of the country is good ranch land, and say the soil is good.

Mr. Rezewski sees no reason why it couldn't be developed into a good agricultural area.

Mr. Rezewski's office is at the west end of the new Lac la Biche hotel. Livestock scales and yard are located at the site of the old stockyards. The scales are new—having been installed late in November.

Besides specializing in registered stock, he buys and sells cattle, and ships to outside points.

This provides district farmers with all the advantages of big city packing service but with local attention and service.

Already Mr. Rezewski has built up an enviable reputation for fair dealing and always quoting highest market prices.

We have several good revenue blocks and houses for immediate sale.
